

2024 UNISA ARC LAUREATE THINKER IN RESIDENCE

Sally McManus

Public Lecture

The Role that Unions Have in Creating Decent Work

We are proud to welcome Sally as the 2024 Thinker in Residence for the Psychosocial Safety Climate Global Observatory (PSC-GO) at UniSA. Sally McManus is the Secretary of the Australian Council of Trade Unions (ACTU).

As the Secretary, Sally leads the ACTU, representing and advocating for working people. The ACTU is the peak organisation for Australian unions. It has 38 affiliated unions and stands for approximately 2 million Australian workers.

Sally is the first woman to hold the position of Secretary since the ACTU's creation in 1927. Sally is a strong leader and brings people together across many industries and levels, from the Prime Minister to shop floor workers and everything in between.

In this public lecture, Sally will present on the critical role that unions have in creating decent work conditions for all workers.

To confirm your attendance to this public lecture, please RSVP via the link provided. Everyone is welcome.

Light refreshments will be provided for attendees.

Promptly starting at 4:30pm on the 6th November 2024. One hour duration.

Allan Scott Auditorium, City West Campus, UniSA

Register your attendance at

<https://tinyurl.com/2ewx3mv6>

or scan the QR code below

An initiative of the 2020 Australian Research Council Kathleen Fitzpatrick Laureate Fellow Professor Maureen Dollard